RE: Support for Town of Greenville's Agricultural Enterprise Area Petition

Dear Mr. Tebo,

This letter offers strong support for the Town of Greenville's Agricultural Enterprise Area (AEA) Petition. Members of the Nagy family are familiar with the goals of this statewide program. Our family has been working for decades to preserve Greenville's agricultural heritage—with a focus on agricultural tourism. We believe firmly that this designation would benefit the Town of Greenville, its residents, visitors to the area, and area businesses that serve the local agricultural community.

The Nagy family and Homestead Meadows have been engaged as an agricultural enterprise in Greenville since 1970, continuing the tradition began in the 1800s by the original family that homesteaded the farm. During the ensuing decades, we adapted to changing conditions affecting a farm with limited acreage (55) by developing a focus on agricultural tourism.

Agricultural tourism is a rapidly emerging focus area of Wisconsin's tourism economy. This effort is well represented by the websites maintained by the Wisconsin Agricultural Tourism Association, for general information at this link: www.luv-r-ag.com and for visitors' event searches: www.visitdairyland.com. We, in Greenville, have been in some ways at the forefront of this trend.

Beginning in 1982, Homestead Meadows has hosted thousands of groups for farm events ranging from day field trips and summer camp programs for children, to hayride and campfire socials for youth and adult groups, to over 1,100 farm-themed weddings – and pretty much everything in-between. Rejecting repeated overtures by developers to yield to the enticement of easy profits, our family instead chose to provide leadership to six agricultural tourism-related initiatives in the area.

1. Developing Homestead Meadows, a premier farm-based special event venue located in the AEA target area
2. Developing the historic Yellowstone Trail corridor
3. Developing Greenville's urban forestry program
4. Developing Greenville's barn preservation initiative
5. Preserving the buildings at the historic Schultz Farm that is being converted to a Town park
6. Currently leading efforts to save and relocate two of the Jennerjohn Family's historic timber frame barns in the path of development (no documents yet)

Each of the above initiatives is further described by the enclosed documentation in a variety of formats such as web excerpts, newsletter articles, and print media coverage.

We feel that an AEA designation would continue to support our relationships with other preservation-minded agriculturists in the area, and underscore the significance of these and other related preservation efforts in Greenville.

We appreciate the opportunity to lend our support to this effort. Should the Town or DATCP have any questions, please feel free to contact me at 920.205.4200.

Sincerely,

Stephen M. Nagy

Greenville Project Receives Award from the Wisconsin Trust for Historic Preservation

Steve and Arlene Nagy of Greenville are recent recipients of a Historic Preservation Award from the Wisconsin Trust for Historic Preservation.

The award was presented at the Fall Historic Preservation Conference in Janesville, and recognizes the Nagys for ...exceptional efforts in behalf of historic preservation in Wisconsin for preserving and restoring what has become Homestead Meadows Farm in the Town of Greenville.

Today Homestead Meadows is considered by many to be an important community resource in the Fox Valley.

The Nagy's project involved the restoration of a much neglected farmstead purchased at a farm auction, and its conversion into a special event banquet and picnic ground facility now known as Homestead Meadows Farm.

Hundreds of groups have used the Farm for church outings, company picnics, weddings, class and family reunions, hayrides, campfire socials, and fund-raisers—to mention only some of the endless uses of the farm over the years.

"We appreciate the many friends and guests who have supported and encouraged us throughout the years", says Arlene Nagy, "and we look forward to providing a happy place for our guests to celebrate special events of all kinds. The recognition by the Wisconsin Trust for Historic Preservation is touching and very much appreciated."

In these vintage photographs from the 70s, Steve is shown harvesting logs from the swamp, and hand-hewing replacement timbers for the barn with a broad axe borrowed from neighbor, Oscar Lenz.

"Those were the good old days", says Steve. "With plenty of youthful vigor available, we had lots of fun working to preserve and improve Greenville's landscape."

Couple turns run-down farm into someplace special

Homestead Meadows a labor of love for Nagys

By TIM FROBERG
POST-CRESCENT WEST

GREENVILLE — When Steve and Arlene Nagy purchased an aging, neglected farmstead at a 1970 auction, it didn't inspire visions of elegance and grace.

The couple was advised to torch the old barn, along with the other broken-down buildings on the 55-acre property.

Instead of throwing matches, the Nagys threw themselves into rebuilding and restoring the buildings, and repurposing the entire property.

Their diligence created a site of ceremony and celebration known as Homestead Meadows: a popular gathering place since the 1980s for special events such as weddings, banquets, class and family reunions, picnics, parties, fundraisers and meetings.

The vintage barn — which once housed dairy cattle and had a dirt floor and silo — has been rebuilt into a two-story banquet hall with three areas that can be rented individually care for rural preservation in Wisconsin, leading local efforts to save and renovate old farm buildings.

In 2004, the Nagys were recognized for their restoration work at Homestead Meadows by the Wisconsin Trust for Historical Preservation, which presented them with a historic preservation award.

"Arlene is really the face of our business and all our testimonials, which I call love letters, are directed to her," Steve said. "I fix things and I dream. Restoration projects are a lot of hard work, but it's always been a hobby of mine. It's like putting together a puzzle, where you work one piece at a time."

The Nagys spent their first 10 years at Homestead Meadows farming the land and raising their three sons. Steve, now retired, also was employed as a technology instructor at Fox Valley Technical College and later owned his own consulting business.

Eventually, the Nagys hosted hayrides and farm tours for classmates of their children before holding their first formal event: a barn dance in 1980.

That inspired Steve, a native of Hungary who immigrated to the United States in 1956 at age 19, to pick up his hammer and put farming on hold. The first of countless weddings at Homestead Meadows was hosted in 1981, and the Nagys' new business soared after that.

"I remember growing up in Europe around a lot of old staff in the country like barns, so I always had an appreciation for vintage things," said Steve. "I can remember going to European weddings in the country that lasted three or four days. I wanted to capture that kind of spirit here. I've always had a real appreciation for history and to preserve it has always been very rewarding to me."

Arlene and Steve are amazed at how Homestead Meadows has evolved.

"It's been expensive, but it's been a labor of love," Arlene said.

Greenville crew preserves part of Yellowstone Trail

By KATE MCGINTY
POST-CRESCENT WEST

GREENVILLE — A little-known piece of history that runs down a six-mile stretch in town is a reminder of the days before highways.

Residents gathered Saturday to commemorate the final step of a restoration project of the Yellowstone Trail, the nation's first cross-country road that once led travelers through Greenville.

The trail was used in the early 19th century to lead drivers from Minneapolis to Chicago by way of Wisconsin.

For the past six years, a volunteer crew has restored the local portion of the trail. They

Power Sub-station Landscaping a Unique Demonstration Project

Greenville's Urban Forestry Board has assembled a set of grants to complete a unique urban forestry demonstration project. The project involves landscaping and beautifying the power sub-station at the intersection of WI 96 (Wisconsin Road) and Julius Drive. The project will be supported by grants from the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and the Wisconsin Energy Corporation Foundation. The Energy Foundation portion of the funding was acquired through the sponsorship of the Greenville Lions Club Project Vision non-profit organization.

Did you know that there are hundreds of such sub-stations in Wisconsin, and many thousands more around the US?

The idea is that, while these power transmission facilities are necessary, they are not necessarily pleasing to the eye. However, they certainly could be more so—by planting trees, shrubs, and wild flower meadows around them.

The grants provide funding for trees and shrubs, as well as for documenting the project with a color brochure and a professionally produced video.

This innovative Greenville project may serve as an incentive to other community groups to undertake similar projects in their neighborhoods.

And wouldn't it be great to see that, as we travel our Nation's highways and byways?

YELLOWSTONE TRAIL Meeting Set for October 16 —All Invited!

You have read in previous newsletters about the historic Yellowstone Trail that traverses Greenville. And you have seen the many trees (or pictures of them) planted along the Trail by urban forestry volunteers. Now, get ready for the next phase of Trail development.

Many ideas are being considered, including stone monuments commemorating the Trail's history, authentic historic signs, yellow stone markers—plus, what else?—of course, more tree planting and landscaping projects.

On Sunday, October 16, there will be an informational and planning meeting, held from 4-6 PM at Steve and Arlene Nagy's place at N433 Julius Drive—first farm south of Spencer on west side of Julius Drive. Anyone interested in learning more about the Trail's history and/or participating in some trail projects is encouraged to attend.

To help plan refreshments, RSVP by Monday, October 10. Call Homestead Meadows at 757-5217. Leave a message of how many will be attending.

Don't miss out. Join the fun!

Randy Sabel (left), community relations representative with WE Energies, meets with Town Chairman Randy Leiker and Urban Forestry Board and Lions Club representatives to review plans for the Julius Drive power sub-station landscaping—an innovative demonstration project.

Busy Volunteers Plant Power Sub-station on Yellowstone Trail

A very complicated project moved closer to completion recently, with the installation of the major plantings of trees and shrubs at the Julius Drive power sub-station on the historic Yellowstone Trail. A group of enthusiastic urban forestry volunteers planted, mulched, and watered dozens of trees and shrubs in just a few hours.

This work is the first phase of the project, held up for months by a major upgrade of the sub-station capacity by WE Energies.

The next phases of the project include:

1. Planting a wild flower meadow on the north side of the station
2. Planting a 'no-mow' bent grass variety on the south side, along the flanks of the planting berm
3. Creating a perennial garden and Yellowstone Trail monument at the north-east corner of the station
4. Producing a color brochure describing the project
5. Producing a video documentary about the project
6. Presenting the project at the Tree City USA conference on utility and municipality relationships

Congratulations and thanks to the volunteers who gathered on a Saturday morning to help beautify Greenville and the historic Yellowstone Trail.

We are looking for an artistic spirit to help design the two Yellowstone Trail monuments to be erected along Greenville's Yellowstone Trail corridor. Computer or manual graphic skills would be desirable. Please call Steve Nagy at 205-4200 if you'd like to help.

Yellowstone Trail to Be Dedicated on September 15th

By Steve Nagy

The dedication of Greenville's segment of the historic Yellowstone Trail will take place at the corner of Julius Drive and Highway 96 on Saturday, September 15th at 9AM. All are invited to attend and celebrate.

For those who have not read earlier articles about the Trail, the Yellowstone Trail was the first cross-country motor roadway that extended across the US from coast-to-coast—from Plymouth Rock to Puget Sound. Built in the early part of the last century, this historic road meandered through Greenville on the way to Yellowstone National Park and beyond.

A group of energized volunteers recently completed the final phase of landscape plantings at the power sub-station on the corner of Julius Drive and Highway 96—on the Yellowstone Trail. The group also completed building the first of two Yellowstone Trail monuments to commemorate this historic part of our Community. A second monument will be built this fall two miles South—at the intersection of Julius Drive and County Highway BB—after the corn crop is harvested from the adjacent field.

Special thanks are extended to Fred Rose of Michels Materials, and Craig Kisser of Kisser Stone & Landscape. Craig also happens to be manager of Michels' Fond du Lac Quarry, and together Craig and Fred arranged a generous donation of over $1,000 worth of limestone slabs from Michels' quarries to help build the memorial monuments. The community spirit of these individuals and their businesses will help passers-by enjoy the Yellowstone Trail monuments as a part of Greenville's history for generations to come.

Many thanks also to numerous volunteers who worked during the past three years to landscape the power sub-station, as well as to WE Energies and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources who provided financial support.

So, join your neighbors on September 15th to learn more about the historic significance of the Yellowstone Trail, and to dedicate Greenville's historic Yellowstone Trail corridor.

(See related article above on Trail tour.)

Join a Yellowstone Trail Old Car Tour on September 30th

The Unity Old Car Club is sponsoring a tour of a segment of the Yellowstone Trail on Sunday, September 30th. The tour will gather at 8AM in Owen for breakfast, and head West, taking in some of the many original landmarks and landscape vistas of the old Yellowstone Trail. Anyone who wishes to join the tour from Greenville—with your own old car or just to ride along—please call John Julius at 757-6159.

Gina Them fusses with the finishing touches after planting the last tree of the power sub-station landscaping project (above), while (below) Steve, Al, and Rich move rocks into place.

Volunteers Gina Them, Shirlee Schuette, Steve Nagy, Al Buman, and Rich Roe grin with satisfaction and relief after placing several tons of rocks to build the Yellowstone Trail monument at the Julius Drive power sub-station. The top rock will be painted yellow, according to the old practice used by farmers to mark the Yellowstone Trail—in the good old days, before fancy highway signs.

"Friends of Greenville's Heritage Farm & Gardens" Being Organized

By Steve Nagy

A new group of Greenville volunteers is being formed under the direction of the Greenville Parks and Urban Forestry Department. The group is tentatively named Friends of Greenville's Heritage Farm & Gardens.

The purpose of the Friends is to provide leadership for the preservation, restoration, and program development efforts focused around the vintage Schultz farmstead. The farmstead is located at Greenville's newest park site, currently dubbed The Field of Dreams.

All Greenville residents who have an interest in the following topics of ecological and historic preservation are encouraged to attend: heritage garden plant varieties; community gardens; farmer's market; environmental education programs; barn preservation and restoration; documentation of Greenville's history.

The first organizational meeting of the group will take place at 6:30 PM on Thursday, October 18, 2007 at Homestead Meadows, W7560 Spencer Rd. Refreshments will be served.

Please call 757-5217 or send an e-note from www.homesteadmeadows.com to confirm your participation.

Second Yellowstone Trail Monument Completed

Volunteers Rich Roe and Al Buman place the capstone on the second Yellowstone Trail monument recently completed. It is located at the intersection of Julius and Winnegamie Drives. The rock was dug up while tilling the farm fields on Tim Menning's adjacent farm, and was painted yellow by Tim to mark the historic Trail. The limestone slabs that form the base of the monument were donated by Michels Materials from its Fond du Lac Stone quarries. Many thanks to Michels and the volunteers who worked on the Yellowstone Trail projects. By Steve Nagy
